K. H. S. Students Accused of Making Raid

Kingston High School Authorities to be Told About Conduct of Local Students—$25 Worth of Goods Stolen From Lunch Wagon.

The Poughkeepsie Evening Star of Saturday has the following to say regarding the conduct of Kingston High School students:

The conduct of the students of the Kingston High School yesterday afternoon after the defeat of their basketball team at the hands of the local high school boys, will be brought to the attention of the Kingston High School authorities by Judge John B. Grubb, he announced today.

This action is being taken after the Kingston fans descended on the lunch wagon owned by Alfred Boyer at the foot of Main street. These persons, numbering about five hundred, crowded around the wagon and inside of it, taking anything that was movable, it is alleged. A young lady that was with the crowd held George Hunt, who helps Mr. Boyer at the counter, in a corner and thereby rendering him helpless. Police headquarters was notified, but by the time the police arrived at the scene the crowd was on a ferryboat crossing the river.

Mr. Boyer and his friends did not try to fight the crowd off as they thought that someone might get hurt in the battle royal that would be sure to follow.

Mr. Boyer said today that every time the Kingston crowd comes here they take something from his wagon. This time, he said, they took more and damaged more than ever. Mr. Boyer said that the Kingston girls and boys are the only ones who bother him in this way. According to his statement, all the other school boys who come here pay for all the things that they get. The list of articles said to have been taken yesterday was turned in at the local police station. According to this list, six cartons of cigarettes, four sixty-cent pies, four salt and pepper shakers, two bottles of catsup, 75 packages of corn flakes, a large pan of beans and six pounds of coffee were the main things taken.

The value of the articles on this list is $22.05, but the value of all the articles taken is thought to be about $25. It is stated.

Legislature Will Kill Many Bills

Governor Will Continue Tax Fight—Prohibition Measure Will Be Held Until Closing Days—Forty-eight Hour Bill Is Dead.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, March 16.—With virtually all measures recommended by Governor Smith scheduled to die in committee, the 1925 legislature started down the home stretch today. Final adjournment will be taken a week from Friday night.

Motions to force about a dozen of the governor's bills out of committee will be made in the lower house this week by Assemblyman Bloch, the Democratic leader. Several of the administration's measures already have been killed in the assembly through motions to discharge committees.

Despite the fact that the Republican leaders say it will be impossible to bring about a reduction in the income tax this year, Governor Smith has carried his fight for tax reduction directly to the people by radio and will continue until the closing hours of the session. The governor insists that a 25 per cent cut in the income tax could be made if the Republicans had agreed to cooperate with him. He has charged them with passing several appropriations which, he says, could be put off until next year.

Indications are that the Jenks statewide prohibition enforcement bill, which was passed in the assembly last week, will not be brought up for final action in the upper house until the closing days of the session. The wets claim the measure will be defeated with the aid of four Republican votes. The Republicans are doing their best to scare one more vote for the prohibition measure in the upper house. If they can do this they say, the passage of the Jenks bill is certain.

The Hewitt bill, abolishing the state fair commission and transferring its functions to the department of farms and markets, is scheduled to come up for final action in the senate this week. Senator Fearon, Republican, of Syracuse, is strongly opposed to the bill. Opponents of the bill say it will be defeated in the upper house, while its advocates insist its passage is assured.

There will be a hearing Tuesday afternoon before the senate judiciary committee on the Nicoll-Hutchinson bill which would require the installation of voting machines in all cities with a population of 175,000.

One measure, which was the opening of the session, it was believed would certainly be passed—the 48 hour bill for women and children in industry—is dead. Only 25 votes for the Shook 48 hour bill could be rounded up at the recent conference of the Republican members of the lower house.

Direct Cable Opened to Italy

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, March 16.—Exactly 19:11 a. m. today, Baron Giacomo De Martino, Italian ambassador to the United States, pressed a switch in the offices of the Western Union Cable Company which opened the first direct cable linking the United States and Italy.

Immediately following, the first message flashed to Rome was one from President Coolidge to His Majesty Victor Emmanuel III, king of Italy, in which President Coolidge sent his greetings in the name of the United States.

President Coolidge's message said: "His Majesty, Victor Emmanuel, king of Italy, Rome.

"The establishment of the first direct connection by cable between the United States and Italy affords me the very pleasing opportunity of sending to Your Majesty my greetings and best wishes. I trust that this new link of intercourse between the two countries will promote the advancement of their common interests and be the forerunner of further means of communication between them.

Air 'Hell Hounds' Radio Nuisance

But These Sounds Are Psychic Voices Which Carry Threatening Messages, According to Letters Received by Government Radio Service.

Copyright, 1925, by International News Service.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, March 16.—There's a lot of funny business going on in the air these spring days and nights—it's a pile of letters on the desk of Chief Radio Inspector Terrell, in the department of commerce, tell the truth.

Officials were puzzled today over the receipt of an unusual number of complaints from persons in widely separated parts of the country that psychic broadcasting stations are operating. "Queer voices" making "spectral threats" have come to them via radio, according to some of the complainants.

Some of the letters obviously are the work of unsound minds—"nut letters" as they are described in the government departments—but others are not. Names of the writers are withheld, but department officials told today of one "well known New York woman" who visited the office of the radio inspector and demanded a government investigation of her case.

She said that for six months she had been the recipient of threatening messages via radio, communicated to her mind by psychic radio.

Another letter complained of "head to head" communicating, setting forth that such communication was simple when the persons were properly magnetized.

One California correspondent declared that the ether was full of "hell hounds" whose stations were scattered throughout the world, broadcasting and amplifying a "wicked will, a master mind intent upon world destruction."

Whatever it is all about, prosaic department officials are puzzled and "helpless."

The department has not succeeded in solving the material problem of radio interference, and is cautious about tackling a new field containing such elements as the mental broadcasting of powerful wills, and eerie, weird communication between the worlds.

Judge Assessed Him $5 for Lie

John Quick of Ulster Park Found It Expensive to Tell Untruth in Police Court—Other Cases Before Judge Harry E. Schrick.

John Quick of Ulster Park came to Kingston Sunday and tackled something or other which resulted in a call for the police to Converse street, where Officers Soper and Burger found Quick trying to enter a house, and they placed him under arrest on a charge of public intoxication.

This morning Quick faced Judge Harry E. Schrick in police court and stated it was his first offense.

"A $5 fine," said the court briefly. "I haven't any money," replied Quick, "but if you will let me go home I'll mail it to you."

"You will have to take five days then," replied Judge Schrick.

Quick scratched his head and then stuck his hand in his pocket and drew out a ten dollar bill, and asked "if the court had any change."

"Wait a minute," said Judge Schrick. "You just told me you had no money. That lie will cost you an additional $5."

And Quick sadly turned over the $10 bill to the clerk.

About 6:30 o'clock this morning Officer Hies arrested James Clark and George Derany on a charge of public intoxication on Broadway, near Thomas street. Judge Schrick fined them each $5.

Henry Smith, who drove to the left of a traffic standard and was arrested by Officer Barber, also contributed a $5 fine.

FAMOUS BLACKMAIL CASE WILL FAIL

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, March 16.—Charles Robinson's suit against the Midland Bank in an effort to collect $450,000 of the money extracted from Sir Hans Slingsby in the famous "Midland" blackmail case will fail in the court of appeal, the latter court announced today.

Only the question of cost of the first suit will be considered, the court said.

THREE AND WORKERS CLASH IN MARCH

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Paris, March 16.—Eight persons were injured in a battle between police and participants in a parade of 10,000 workers, during which the police fired into the procession, in Madrid on Sunday, said a messenger received here today.

Hopes Smith Can Cut Bills

Lieutenant Governor Lowman Says Legislators Who Passed Appropriation Bills Have Been Deluged With Telegrams and Action Is Now Up to Governor.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., March 16.—Tax reduction was placed squarely up to Governor Smith today by Lieutenant Governor Seymour Lowman, Republican spokesman at the Capitol.

In a statement, Lowman said he hoped the governor would be able to cut down the appropriation bills "so we can reduce taxes this year."

The appropriation bills, Lowman said, were prepared by Democratic department heads. The governor urged the Republican leaders of the legislature to cut $3,000,000 out of the highway bills but they have refused.

Hundreds of telegrams, telephone messages and letters have been pouring into the Capitol in the last 24 hours urging the Republican leaders to cooperate with the governor in an effort to bring about tax reductions.

The governor carried his fight for tax reduction by radio to the people on Saturday night.

Lowman's statement follows: "Telegrams, telephone messages and letters have been coming to the Capitol by the hundreds in response to Governor Smith's radio speech on Saturday. These communications are practically all from New York city. The people there seemed greatly interested in a reduction of the income tax."

"The appropriation bills are most all passed and are in the hands of the governor. I hope he will be able to cut these down so that we can reduce taxation this year. The bills are passed were practically all prepared by his Democratic department heads and if he can find ways to cut them down it will be a splendid thing for the people."

Smith Says He Will.

When Governor Smith was told Lieutenant Governor Lowman had put the tax reduction up to him, he said:

"I'll show him how it can be done. First, let him recall the cattle bill appropriation of $4,000,000 and cut it in half, thereby making a sufficient appropriation for the calendar year and not delaying for one minute the payment to owners of the slaughtered cattle."

"Second, let him send me the soldier bonus bill for $2,500,000 instead of $3,500,000. This appropriation is predicated on an estimate and it may never be spent. I am convinced that $2,500,000 is all that could be spent in the next year."

"Third, let him pass the Walker bill thereby releasing $882,970 from the state's frozen surplus to liquid surplus. It is now lying idle in the frozen surplus and cannot be used for the purpose it was appropriated."

"Fourth, pass the bill providing for a 25 per cent reduction in the state income tax because if such a bill is not passed nothing can be done."

"If he will do these four things and then tie up the bill, and forget politics, we will have tax reduction."

The governor then proceeded to sing the chorus of "My Boyhood's Happy Days Down on the Farm."

SON-IN-LAW OF WEALTHY WOMAN MUST GO TO JAIL

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, March 16.—Mrs. Ada B. Woodson, Washington society milliner, who after a search of two years found her missing daughter married to Morris J. Seldow, burglar and bakery wagon driver, lost her legal fight to save Seldow from jail today when he was sentenced today to thirty days in the workhouse for assaulting a passenger in 1923 while employed as a motorman by the New York railway company.

At the expiration of this sentence he will be returned to Limira reformatory for 13 months and 29 days to finish serving a term for burglary.

Despite testimony by investigators that Seldow had committed bigamy in marrying Mary, her daughter, Mrs. Woodson announced she would appeal to Governor Smith for a pardon.

Warren Rejected by Senate a Second Time

Healthy Sign That Senate Becomes Solicitous Over Its Constitutional Duty of Cabinet Appointments, Borah Says, In Acrimonious Debate Over Coolidge's Appointee—Warren's Record Defended.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, March 16.—The nomination of Charles B. Warren of Michigan as attorney general was again rejected this afternoon by the United States Senate.

Climaxing a fight between the president and the Senate that is without parallel in history, Warren's name was sent back to the White House for the second time under conditions which make it incumbent upon President Coolidge either to name another man or carry out his threat to offer the Michigan attorney a recess appointment.

The same coalition of Democrats and Independent Republicans disavowing partisanship, accomplished Warren's defeat this afternoon as they had also caused his initial rejection a week ago.

The vote was 46 to 39.

Washington, March 16.—Asserting that Charles B. Warren's connection with the alleged sugar trust, a dozen years ago, made him an unfit aspirant for the attorney generalship, Senator William E. Borah denounced the appointment on the floor of the senate today in one of the most fervent speeches of his career.

Borah opposed confirmation of Warren on the initial vote a week ago and had not intended to speak, but, he said, in view of the public criticism of the senate for obstructing the Warren appointment, he abandoned his silence and declared that the senate could not shirk its dual responsibility with the president in the naming of cabinet officers.

Police Preserve Order.

One of the greatest crowds in years heard the closing debate on the Warren fight. Police reserves had to be called out at once to preserve order. They added a dramatic note to a conflict between the executive and the senate that has no parallel in history.

Borah clashed spectacularly with Senator Gillett of Massachusetts, one of the few administration senators chosen to defend Warren. He went back in history to show how "another Massachusetts senator," Daniel Webster, had opposed the confirmation of Martin Van Buren as minister to England. He sarcastically observed that he left the comparison of these two Bay State senators to the public.

Borah's Viewpoint.

Enforcement of law, Borah declared, was the gravest problem now before the public and he, for one was unwilling to turn the law enforcement department of government over to one of Warren's record in promoting the sugar monopoly.

New Senators as Defenders.

Defense of Warren fell to a handful of new administration senators, Gillett and Butler of Massachusetts, and Bingham of Connecticut, principally. The burden of their argument was that the president should be allowed to choose his official family without interference from the senate—a theory which Borah and the opposition senators derided.

Cites Fall and Dauberly.

Borah, in reply, after a burning indictment to the fall and Dauberly cases, said it was a healing sign that the senate was again becoming collections over its constitutional duty of O. K. and cabinet appointments.

Official Poll Shows Defeat.

A poll taken of the senate by International News Service right after the vote started showed Warren would be defeated for the second time by a decisive margin. The check-up, however, showed a final vote of 46 to 39, a defeat for the president by a margin of 17 votes.

Republican Leaders Admire the Record of the poll and record of the apparent result.

Ulster County Pomona Grange

(Official Report.)

Ulster County Pomona Grange was held on Friday, March 6, at Huguenot Grange Hall, New Paltz, with Worthy Master C. E. Davis presiding.

Reports of subordinate granges show they have already felt the influence of the loving cup offered by the Home Economics Committee. Many improvements had been made, lights, running water, heaters installed, rugs purchased, etc.

Deputy J. Wells Weaver reported again of 40 members in the county and a waiting list of 13. He predicted that this would be a banner year for our county, and that we probably would be entitled to an additional delegate to State Grange. After an excellent dinner served by Huguenot Grange a class of ten was obligated in the fifth degree by Worthy Master Davis.

The Home Economics Committee put on the following program:

Introductory talk on milk and its importance in our diet by Miss McCrea, field secretary of the Dairy-men's League.

A clever and instructive talk by "Healthy," the health clown, impersonated by H. M. Epps of Accord, illustrating the necessity of drinking plenty of milk and eating the right kind of food.

Two beautiful solos were sung by Mrs. William Hooky of Asbury, Mrs. David Kiefer, J. Harold Clarke, Deulah Thompson, Harold V. Story and J. Wells Weaver, deputy, gave a full account of each day's proceedings at the state grange held at Saratoga.

A prize of $10.00 was offered jointly by Pomona Grange and a Pomona member to the grange having in attendance at Pomona the largest number of members reckoned on a membership basis, the contest to begin in June.

The following resolutions were presented and passed:

To Senator John Knight: "Resolved that Ulster County Pomona Grange in regular session assembled, favor the passage of the Wales Enforcement bill and urge you to do all in your power to bring it about."

To Assemblyman Lewis Stapley: "Resolved that Ulster County Pomona Grange in regular session assembled, favor the passage of a law granting a license to boys and girls between the ages of 16 and 18 and urge you to do all in your power to secure its passage."

Whereas, it has pleased the Almighty God to enter our grange and take to Himself Sister Mattie B. Michael

Therefore be it resolved that this grange feels deeply the tidings of the death of our sister and we desire to express our appreciation of her noble character, her interest in all the activities of our order, and for her efficient services. They leave behind an abiding inspiration to all those who have been privileged to know her and to work with her.

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family and be spread upon the minutes of our order.

(Drawn up by Sisters Hornbeck and Brink.)

The committee on regalia, Brother Russell Martin, Sister Sahler and Deputy Weaver, are to be congratulated on their choice. The officers' sashes are certainly a joy to behold and added much to the occasion.

FINDS DAUGHTER AFTER 14 YEARS

Mother Traces Girl From Orphanage to Farm.

Arden, N. J.—The successful ending of a fourteen-year search for her lost daughter was confirmed by Mrs. Grand Thompson upon her return here from Middletown, Md., where she located Virginia Benton, eighteen, a daughter by a former marriage.

The girl was attending school while earning her living as a domestic on a Middletown farm.

While Mrs. Thompson, then Mrs. Benton, was ill in Philadelphia fourteen years ago, and she and her husband were in financial straits, Virginia was placed in an orphanage. The home later burned, the child was sent elsewhere and the records destroyed. The mother lost all trace of Virginia.

Nine years ago the girl's father died and Mrs. Benton married Grand Thompson. The search was renewed, resulting in the location of Virginia just before Christmas.

The mother, who now is well to do, said that the demand of Miss Louise Nelson, a Maryland probation officer, for proof of identity, had been satisfied and that Virginia will be allowed shortly to return to her mother's home.

ELLENVILLE

Ellenville, March 16.—The local board of education has received a report of the work being done in Oberlin College by Charles Gay Ver Nooy, a graduate of Ellenville High School, in which it appears that his rank was 68 out of a freshman class of 400.

Members of Wawarsing Lodge, F. & A. M., to the number of thirteen went to Catskill last Monday to attend the district convention of Masonic lodges of Greene and Ulster counties. Some time before his death the late Charles H. Post, president of the New York City Salvage Corps, offered to present George Green, late of Ulster and Ladder Company with a half dozen waterproof covers for the protection of furniture and goods from water damage, fires, in case the firehouse would form a corps for their handling. After Mr. Post's death, H. C. Christopher of the Catholic company brought the matter to the attention of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, which immediately entered into an arrangement to supply the covers in accordance with Mr. Post's wishes. The covers, six in number, 14x20 feet, and worth several hundred dollars, were received the past week and will be carried on the fire truck, the members being instructed in their use. This is an important addition to the equipment of the fire department, which now has all essential features complete, satisfactorily with the exception of several times the size of Ellenville. The members of the Scoreby House and Hook and Ladder Co. are grateful to Mr. Christopher and the National Board of Fire Underwriters for carrying out a cherished design of Mr. Post of his last days.

Had the Right Initial

An addition, examining the rate-books in a rural district, not far from London, was puzzled to find the letter "B" against several names where the place of residence should be indicated. Upon being asked to explain, the assistant overtook said: "Oh, well, as a matter of fact, those particular people are dead, but not knowing for certain, I felt unable to give more than the initial letter of their present abode."

LAW AND LITERALISM

There is a tradition that the wise judge regards the spirit as well as the letter of the law, yet much evidence indicates that such a judge is checked and justice is often defeated by the bonds of mere literalism and interfering technicalities. In connection with some decisions of the Supreme court of Missouri we read that of the 199 cases brought before that court on appeal in the two years ending February 1924, the greater number were based on errors of instruction in the lower courts and some were based on purely technical grounds of mere failure to follow the exact customary wording of the law. For example, a bank robber convicted and sentenced to twenty years was given a new trial because the indictment said he broke into the bank by smashing a window instead of saying that he "did feloniously and burglariously break in. Another indictment was thrown out because it said the victim was shot and died the next day instead of saying that he "died from the effects of the wounds within a year and a day."

Equally astonishing are the facts in connection with some of the 72 reversals by the same court. In one of them the prosecuting attorney was convicted of "prejudicial remarks" because he said, "I am satisfied that this defendant killed the deceased as I am that I am standing before you." Many of the cases of reversal were due merely to failure to follow the proper form in giving instructions. In view of such punctiliousness in insisting upon exact compliance with literal forms—a manifest means of defeating the ends of justice—it is gratifying to know that reform in the wording of laws is now urged by a committee of the American Bar Association.

THE PRESIDENT'S BURDENS.

Chief Justice Taft was in sympathy with the renewed effort to devise means whereby the president can be relieved of much unnecessary labor. Referring to his experience in the White House, he is quoted as saying that signing commissions "is the greatest manual duty the president has to perform" and that "a substantial part of each business day is occupied with signatures." Obviously relief from this burden would follow agreement that a facsimile stamp could be used or that subordinate officer or secretary be empowered to sign for him. Other burdens could be lightened in other ways. But the renewed movement in that direction headed by Senator Edge has been stopped by President Coolidge who, for reasons not stated, asked that the Edge resolution be withdrawn. One suggested explanation is that he loves clerical work.

A greater time-killer and more wearing duty than writing countless signatures is pointed out by Mr. Taft when he says: "I can not exaggerate the waste of the president's time and the consumption of his nervous vitality involved in listening to Congressmen's intercessions as to local appointments." No law other than that of mere courtesy requires the president to submit to this great burden. It is not only laid on the president but tends toward continual interference with the civil service laws. Yet it would be easy to achieve a large measure of reform in this particular. Merely by extending the merit system Congress could relieve the president of a vast amount of trouble in connection with pettifoggish appointments.

It is complained that male voters are in the lead in England because women are not allowed to vote until they have reached the age of thirty years, and that the House of Commons has just refused to change the unequal law. Male voters are in the lead in America also, but only because women are a prisoner of the women's suffrage movement.

If Vice President Dawes continues to shake up the Senate as rapidly as he did on the first day, the more conservative members of that "board of boys" may be expected to look upon him as a sort of trouble-maker and a cheap show-brogue.

Dawes is counting on some little fun as well as meditating reform of antiquated rules.

The war is no longer the park-house ruled with the bludge of every-thing. A London youth charged with burglary attributes his downfall to American "movies."

TRUNK LENGTH VITAL.

In former days in giving students a physical examination, it was customary to take a great number of measurements and also a number of strength tests.

This idea has passed out and properly so, because many of the measurements were not important, and "strength tests" were uncertain, because just how much of his strength a student put into his "lift" could never be ascertained. Further the idea of a "green" student being allowed, encouraged rather, to put his last ounce into a test at the very beginning of his school career, did not seem to be a wise procedure.

However, there is one measurement that may come back into use, and that is the length of the trunk, or the height of the body in a sitting posture.

Candidates for the French air service have three measurements taken that are considered vital. They are the length of the trunk, the capacity of the lungs, and the weight of the body.

Now why is the length of the trunk vital?

Because that is where you live. Your legs and arms are simply servants of the trunk, the legs to propel you along, and the arms to bring to your body anything and everything it needs. From this length of the body, as compared with the legs, has come a fruitful line of investigation in so far as health and strength is concerned.

The ideal type is where the length of the legs as compared with the trunk is in good proportion.

The next type is where the legs are short as compared with the body. The third type is where the body is short and the legs are long. You can thus see that our tables of weight as compared to height should take these different types into consideration. As yet, the insurance companies have not done so.

The resistance of these different types toward certain ailments is being investigated.

As most of your organs are in the trunk, the size of your trunk is certainly important. For instance, if your trunk is short and your legs long a few pounds below the average weight for your height would be alright. On the other hand a long trunk with short legs should mean a few pounds over the stated weight for your height.

That seems a reasonable proposition.

To Stabilize Building Trades

Notes For Year-Round Building Give Solid Backing in Construction Centers, Report to Secretary Hoover States.

The movement to increase the amount of winter construction is being pushed with vigor by local groups of business men and others connected with the building industry, according to a report to Secretary Hoover from Dr. John M. Gries, chief of the commerce department's housing division. Business men all over the country are aroused to the importance of stabilizing the building industry. Their activities are directed toward investigating local conditions in their communities and planning their future construction accordingly. Such activities are the keystone of the program for lengthening the construction season.

In Cleveland, Ohio, the Chamber of Commerce, the Builders' Exchange, and the Board of Lumber Dealers have appointed committees to study local building conditions and to devise effective methods for correcting the seasonal ups and downs. In Wilmington, Delaware, the Chamber of Commerce has long since issued a pamphlet for lengthening the building season into a year-round building season. In Omaha, Nebraska, the Builders' Exchange has given publicity to the subject through newspaper advertising. The St. Louis Master Builders' Association has done likewise.

The New York Building Congress, a pioneer in the winter construction movement, has made a thorough study of the prospects for winter work in New York and has issued a report which predicts considerable activity in the winter months. "Very nearly establishes a new normal seasonal distribution of building volume."

The Philadelphia Building Congress, also one of the first to advocate winter work, has devoted much space to the subject in its publications and in the newspapers. In Chicago a long list of buildings is now under construction. The total situation of contracts awarded for December in the city was well above the same month of 1922, due to the confidence aroused in winter building by local organizations. These instances are evidence of a widespread feeling that business in general has much to gain from more stable conditions in the building industry.

Several cities have already undertaken studies of local weather conditions, similar to the investigation made by the Department of commerce in nine construction centers. Through these studies it is proposed to obtain from weather records the facts as to average and extreme weather conditions so that builders may have a basis on which to figure probable delays due to winter conditions. The Akron Builders' Exchange has arranged to cooperate with the Engineering College of the city of Akron for weather studies and the chapter of the Associated General Contractors in Los Angeles is undertaking similar work.

FAMOUS WOMEN—HERO.

Hero was a priestess of Venus at Sestos, on the coast of Thrace. She saw Leander, a youth of Abydos, at a festival in honor of Venus and Adonis at Sestos, and they fell in love with each other. The sacred office of Hero and the opposition of her relatives prevented the marriage, but every night Leander swam across the Hellespont, guided by a torch, placed by Hero in her tower. At length he perished one night in the attempt to reach his love, and Hero, while awaiting him, saw his lifeless body thrown up by the waves at the foot of her tower. In her sorrow, and despair she sprang from the tower to the body of Leander and died.

ANNIVERSARIES.

March 16th is the birthday of William Byrd, the founder of Richmond, Va. (1674), of James Madison, fourth president of the United States (1751); of Jethro Wood, inventor of the cast iron plow (1741); of Caroline Lucrilia Herschel, the famous feminine astronomer (1750); of General George A. McCall, who served in the Florida, Mexican and Civil Wars (1802); of Edmund Kirby Smith, famous Confederate General (1821); of Andrew S. Hallide, inventor of the cable road (1832); of Gonzalvo de Cordova of Spain, known as "the Great Captain" (1453). Also on March 16th, Thierius Claudius Nox died, T. A. D. and Emperor Valentinian III was assassinated in 455 (The Great Rome was very near the end then, in fact its greatness had already passed away).

WEST POINT.

Although it has been occupied as a military post since January 20, 1778, the actual creation of a military academy, as it is known today, occurred in 1802, under the authorization of an act of congress, approved on March 16. West Point was selected on account of its location, and with a class of ten cadets present it was formally opened on July 4, 1802.

The academy had its origin in a resolution passed by congress on October 1, 1778, which appointed a committee to "prepare a plan for a military school for the army." General Washington was untiring in his efforts to establish the academy, and it was at his request in 1781 that the Corps of Invalides was marched from Philadelphia to join the garrison at West Point.

In March, 1812, the academy was without a single instructor but the war with England, however, called attention of the government to the pressing needs of the academy. Colonel Sylvanus Thayer was appointed superintendent of West Point in 1817, and succeeded in making the institution famous among the military schools of the world.

THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed bronchial tubes and kills the germ. Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the most healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation of inflammation, while the creosote goes to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Many Changes In Postal Rates

Tariff Increased on Various Classes of Matter—Pay Rise for Employees to be in Effect on April 15.

On April 15 next new postal rates designed to provide for the salary increases recently voted postal employees by congress become effective, and the public will have to become familiar with new rates involving nearly every class of mailable matter and form of service.

First class matter, consisting of written matter and government postal cards, is carried at the same rates as now. The rate on private mailing cards or post cards is increased from 1 cent each to 2 cents each. There is a distinction between the government postal cards and privately printed post cards. The first goes for 1 cent each, the second for 2 cents each under the new rates.

Though there are various minor changes in the rates for second class matter, the only change which directly concerns the general public is the change in the rate of publications sent as second class matter, when sent by others than the publishers or news agent. The old rates were 1 cent on each four ounces, the new rates, 2 cents for each two ounces.

Reclassifications. By the reclassification act certain matter given the group description of merchandise and formerly included in the fourth class, is henceforth to be included in the third class and to go at third class rates. The third class now includes merchandise and printed and other mailable matter, except that of the first and second classes up to eight ounces in weight. The new rates for third class matter are 1 1/2 cents for each two ounces up to eight ounces, except for books, catalogues, seeds, cuttings, bulbs, roots, scions and plants, on which the rate will be 1 cent for each two ounces.

Fourth class matter includes books, circulars and other matter in print, proof sheets, corrected proof sheets and manuscript copy accompanying same, merchandise, and all other mailable matter now included in the first, second or third class. Parcel post zone rates are not changed by the new act, but there are two new features, one of which adds a charge of 2 cents for each parcel of fourth class matter as a service charge. The other new feature is a "special handling" charge of 25 cents for each parcel. By paying this extra charge, the sender secures the same handling for fourth class matter as is given first class matter.

New Money Order Rates. Money order rates are partially increased by the act. The new rates are as follows:

For orders not over $2.50, 5 cents.
Not over $5, 7 cents.
Not over $10, 10 cents.
Not over $20, 12 cents.
Not over $40, 15 cents.
Not over $60, 18 cents.
Not over $80, 20 cents.
Not over $100, 22 cents.
The old rates are as follows:
Not over $2.50, 3 cents.
Not over $5, 5 cents.
Not over $10, 8 cents.
Not over $20, 10 cents.
Not over $40, 12 cents.
Not over $60, 15 cents.
Not over $80, 18 cents.
Not over $100, 20 cents.

Insurance rates are increased by the act. The following tables show the difference between the old and new rates:

Indemnification. Old. New.
Not to exceed $5, 3 cents 5 cents
Not to exceed $25, 5 cents 8 cents
Not to exceed $50, 10 cents 10 cents
Not to exceed $100, 25 cents 25 cents
The fees for collection on delivery services are also increased by the bill. New rates are: For collections not to exceed $10, 12 cents; not to exceed $50, 15 cents; and not to exceed $100, 25 cents. The old rates are: Up to $50, 10 cents; up to $100, 25 cents.

Special Delivery Increase.

The rates for special delivery are increased by the bill. This service was formerly given for a flat charge of 10 cents. The new rates are: On mail matter up to two pounds, 10 cents; from two to ten pounds, 15 cents; above ten pounds, 20 cents. In this connection the new law provides for fees of 3 cents each for return receipts for registered letters and 2 cents each for return receipts for insured mail matter. No charge has been made for these return receipts until the enactment of the present bill. In accordance with the provisions of the new bill the public will see after April 15 1 1/2 and 1/2 cent stamps and 1 1/2 cent stamped envelopes. The 1 1/2 cent design for stamps and stamped envelopes will bear the head of the late President Harding. The design for the 1/2 cent stamp is not yet known.

"It was the most charming divorce I ever received," declared Mrs. Jess Nash, the American "best dressed woman in the world," in telling in Paris of her Cairo divorce from Sabat Bey, scion of Egyptian nobility, to whom she had been married only a month. ## "Vanity cases used 3000 B. C."

SCIENTIFIC excavations in the ancient city of Kish, so we are told by a news dispatch, show that women carried vanity cases forty-nine centuries ago. Why did not the luxuries of that old civilization spread to the rest of the world? Why were the delicate and pleasure-bringing things of life buried and hidden away for so many ages?

Without the printed word, information could hardly be spread to other countries, and the knowledge of events and things could scarcely be preserved. Today, if a better rug is produced in Kurdistan, it is soon advertised for sale in American newspapers. If a better necklace is made in China, a printed advertisement will shortly describe it and quote the price on the other side of the globe.

Advertising publishes the secrets of good things from one end of America to the other. The newest and best products of forty-eight states are told about, fully and truthfully, wherever the public press is read.

Read the advertisements and you keep from being buried like Kish.

Advertisements tell you what is best to buy—where to get it and what to pay for it.

ACCORD. Accord, March 16.—The third session in the millinery course will be held in the M. E. Church Hall Wednesday, March 14. Miller on Thursday afternoon, March 19. All the ladies are invited.

Every Seventh Person Has Car

Government Statistics Show Over 16 Per Cent Increase of Motor Vehicles in 1924—License Fees $225,402,000.

Motor vehicle registrations in the United States reached a total of 17,591,981 at the end of 1924, according to the bureau of public roads of the United States Department of Agriculture. Mother Shipton's prophecy, made in 1641, that "Carriages without horses shall go" has indeed been fulfilled to all the people, for at the present time there is one motor vehicle for every 6.4 persons, one passenger car for every 7.3 persons and one motor truck for every 69.0 persons.

The reports received from the 48 states show a net gain in registration of 2,501,045 for the year, or 16.6 per cent. Passenger cars increased 14.7 per cent in number while motor trucks increased at more than double this rate, or 32.9 per cent, indicating rapid development of commercial use of the highways. Truck registrations increased 54.4 per cent in Kansas and 42.4 per cent in North Dakota.

The greatest increase in total registration is shown in the South Atlantic group of states where the increase was 21.5 per cent, while the minimum is shown in the West North Central group, amounting to 10 per cent. The total gross receipts from license fees amounted to $225,402,000. Of this amount $184,393,000, or 82 per cent, is applicable to highway work under the supervision of the state highway departments. New York state's total registration for 1924 was 1,412,879, an increase of 17.3 per cent over 1923.

Jimmie Wilkinson, editor-in-chief of F. O. B. pictures, outside of business hours is a wireless fiend. When it comes to radio he knows all there is to know, which explains how, when one of those rare occurrences, a thunder storm, threatened Hollywood, he went out and lowered his aerial and buried one end in the ground. "But my heavens!" exclaimed Ted Cheeseman next day, "weren't you afraid the lightning would strike you while you were doing all that?" "Of course not," retorted Jimmie. "Knowing that silk is a wonderful non-conductor I did all the work wearing my silk pajamas and socks. An outfit like that may be shocking under certain circumstances but not while fixing a radio."—Los Angeles Times.

ODD COMBATS SEEN IN JUNGLE WORLD

Constant Struggle Seems to Be Nature's Law.

Bears, bears and hyenas are formidable fighting animals. Wolves and other members of the dog family hunt in packs and are clever fighters, says a writer in the New York Herald-Tribune. They are fleet of foot and full of courage. Sunderson, the Mysore hunter, gives some fine stories of the hunting capacity of dogs. He tells about the conquest of an elephant by dogs named Marquis, a bulldog; Lady, a bull-terrier; Bismarck, Viper and Fury, pups of the above, nine months old, and Turk, an old bull-terrier. He said:

"I had taken my dogs to capture a bear in the jungle when we saw an elephant coming toward us. I decided to let the dogs attack him. Then the elephant turned and made off. He had not gone 200 yards. Turk and Lady were up to it and Lady had secured a cheek hold. Turk seized the trunk. Bismarck held an ear and Bill Sykes, another bulldog, had him by a leg. The fierceness of this fight cannot be told in words. The elephant roared lustily and dragged the dogs along, often on their backs, and apparently in imminent risk of being trampled to death. The smaller dogs, maddened by excitement, were yelling and snapping at the elephant's feet. This fight went on for hours until finally my men assisted the dogs and tied the elephant's legs with a rope. All the animals were completely exhausted and injured. All were bleeding from numerous wounds. Plenty of milk and good, soft beds of straw soon put the dogs into good bearing condition again."

This experienced hunter, in speaking of the courage of bulldogs, said: "A bulldog is not dismayed by any object, however strange. In this respect it differs from every other created being."

The jungle world is full of bloody contests of this character. Every hunter can relate innumerable experiences about animal combats, strategy and the many types of armor nature furnishes the organic world with for assault and defense. It is a fighting world and must have fights, and, as Bishop Whewell, in his Bridge-water treatise, wisely said long ago: "Regarding the material world, we can at least go so far as this—we can perceive that events are brought about not by isolated interpositions of divine power, exerted in each particular case, but by the establishment of general laws."

The struggle of the whole of the organic orders for existence is one of these general laws and would almost seem to be a necessary one.

Shaw's Good Stories

The vegetarian saint, George Bernard Shaw, has false teeth, it develops. He told a story about them while dining out, a thing he seldom does, usually preferring meatless meals at his own board.

While on a holiday in Italy last year, "G. B. S." said, he absently minded left his teeth behind, and only recovered them when a youth rushed up the gangplank of his vessel, waving them in the air and shouting at him.

"What did you do?" Shaw was asked. "That them in, of course, with great relief," he replied.

Shaw also referred to his patriarchal beard which, he avers, was turned a bright green by the recent pneumonia that darkened and dirtied London for 40 hours.

In order to restore a clean order to his facial adornment, he told his listeners, he had to scrub it with a scalding preparation famous for whitening pots and pans.

Straight Talks With Aunt Emmy

ON "SUCKER LISTS"

"EVER since I bought that $500 electric company bond, Aunt Emmy," said Helen. "I have been pestered by all sorts of bond salesmen to buy other things. I should like to invest again, but I am bewildered. Every day or so I see something that sounds so good. But I don't know what to do."

"That reminds me," said Aunt Emmy, fishing through her work-basket and taking out some clippings from her needle book. "I have an article from a magazine that will help. The writer gave some questions to make a bond salesman answer in writing and said that if the salesman were on the square he would answer the questions satisfactorily. Here they are," and Aunt Emmy began to read:

"1. Will my bank say that the house which is offering the security is reputable?"

"2. Give an exact description of the security?"

"3. What provision is made for paying off this and other securities of the company?"

"4. What is the nature of the business of the company?"

"5. How much of a margin did the company earn annually over all its depreciation and interest charges for each of the last ten years?"

"6. What dividends has the company paid on its stock for each of the last ten years?"

"7. What are the company's total assets and liabilities and has it sufficient funds to carry on its business?"

"8. What are the experience and reputation of the men controlling and operating the company?"

"Then the best thing to do is to go to your banker and let him check up all this information for you," added Aunt Emmy. "Now that you know your name is on a 'sucker list' be doubly careful."

"What's a 'sucker list,' Aunt?"

"It is a list of the names of people who have purchased securities or investments about them. Such lists are

This evening at St. Peter's basketball court the St. Peter's Seniors will meet the Poughkeepsie Lyceums. On Friday evening at Poughkeepsie the local Saints, in one of the toughest battles ever staged at the Bridge City, pulled out victorious. In this evening's game the same line-ups are scheduled to appear and another good struggle should result.

In the preliminary game the Junior Saints will tackle the Independents. These teams battled last Monday evening in one of the fastest games of the season, two points separating the score at the final buzzer, with the Young Saints the winners.

On Tuesday evening the Saints Seniors will travel to Peekskill to meet the fast combination of the place. The Peekskill quintet is one of the fastest teams of the season, holding wins over all outfits encountered, with the exception of the Celtics.

MARANVILLE BREAKS BONE IN RIGHT ANKLE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Avalon, Catalina Island, March 16.—Rabbit Maranville, star infielder, will be lost to the Cubs for at least three months and the injury he received in yesterday's game in Los Angeles may cripple him permanently.

The accident occurred in the eighth inning when Maranville slid into third base. The captain of the Cubs caught his right foot on the staple that anchors the bag and something gave. An X-ray examination showed that the bone in the right ankle was cracked.

Elephant Holds Up Train Making Commuters Walk

Boston, Mass.—Commuters on the Boston & Maine railroad having occasion to pass through Salem had to do a bit of unexpected walking when a two and one-half-ton circus elephant became so ruffled over slipping on the ice at the railroad crossing that he would not get up until he was good and ready.

"Chester" is an unwary moment put his foot down on a stretch of glaring ice as he was about to board his private car and down he tumbled. Coaxing failed to budge the animal and pushing had no more effect, so there was nothing to do but to run trains to either side of the animal and make passengers get out, walk around the living obstruction and board a train on the other side.

Finally "Chester" tired of lying down, got up, proceeded to his car, and regular train traffic was resumed.

Many Changes in Phillie's Line Up

Hefale Sand, One of Few 1924 Players to Hold His Job—Fletcher Has Hopes for His Ambitious Team This Season.

(By Davis J. Walsh.)

Sarasota, Fla., March 16.—Once upon a time there was a group of worthy but altogether mediocre young men who suddenly recognized the fact their manager had been born white, didn't spill egg on his vest and habitually washed behind the ears. They deemed him a gentleman and a scholar, went out of their earnest way to please him and they lived happily ever after.

This is not a bed time story. It is the story of the poor but honest Phillies, as outlined to the writer. The story of an almost hopelessly inefficient ball club that fairly bristles with hope from Arthur Fletcher, the clean eared manager, right down to Hefale Sand, the short stop who didn't realize there was a lot of kidding going around and insisted that bearing down was one of the things that was being done these days.

"I never saw anything like it," said Fletcher, referring to the boy's ambition, not the prevalent type of bearing down. "That is, outside of a college ball team. These fellows are simply working their heads off and the chatter during a workout sounds like the ballyhoo man on the midway at Coney Island."

The Phillies, in short, may be going nowhere in particular, but they decline to do it quietly.

Sand, by the way, is one of comparatively few 1924 relics who figure to hold his job. Nelson, "Chicken" Hawks, once a Yankee, and later of Nashville, has replaced Holke at first base. Walter Kimmick, ex-Red, has moved right into second base from the Vernon Coast League Club.

A young man, C. B. Huber by name and gifted by nature, will play third. He is up with the Philadelphia from Beaumont; Fletcher says he will stay. Nothing personal behind this threat.

Fletcher really likes the young man. However, he is much more enamored of Kimmick, who couldn't hit the size of his neck band with the Reds.

"He's the sweetest looking infielder I've seen in a long time," said Fletcher. "He seems to be able to do anything at second base and I'll venture to say his hitting has improved fifty per cent. He stands up there like Hornsby now."

Kimmick and Huber have eliminated Russell and Wrightstone except for utility measures. Leland Durham, a semi-pro from Atlanta, Ill., and Leonard Metz, from Waterbury, Conn., also are striving, but no one seems to be the wisest. Horace Ford has retired to a life of ease and retirement.

There are plenty of outfielders and some of them are good. Cy Williams will adorn center field, leaving Harper, Moku, Schultz and George
